

Issue 4

The stance of the university person

January 9, 2020

Hello. This is Kohno Shigeru from Nagasaki University.

“For Planetary Health,” is a large-scale theme that I announced earlier.

Perhaps many people think it is a little overambitious.

However, it’s necessary for university people to have the spirit to lead the world and the region by holding high ideals. Think about the long history of Nagasaki University. Our colleagues that came before us overcame many obstacles including the loss from the atomic bomb. Now it’s our turn to take over this tradition.

Take one step ahead of all universities in the world, Nagasaki University people. Please accept my challenge to you. As faculty and staff I hope you think about the common great theme, “For Planetary Health,” with a clean slate.

Nagasaki University people, remember to hold high ideals and boldly meet the challenges in Japan and the world.

This year what challenges are you and your colleagues facing?

What is your perception of these challenges.

Please keep “For Planetary Health” in mind as you take on these challenges.

Please feel free to share your opinions.