授業のねらい・内容・方法
The aim of this course is to give learners opportunities to practice English communication. We will concentrate on interactive group project work, as well as developing organizational skills, including note taking and record keeping. One presentation project a month is expected. The first two classes a month will be workshops and the second two classes will be presentation days. Students should be prepared to do some homework. For example, there may not be time to do student interviews, self-evaluations, and poster creations during class time only.
